Contents

Preface xxi

PART 1
PR Writing: Role and Responsibility

CHAPTER ONE
Public Relations and the Writer 2

Defining Public Relations 3
   Analyzing, Predicting and Counseling 3
   Advertising, Publicity and PR 4
   The Two-Way Street 5

Publics, Channels and the Role of the Writer 5
   The Public in Public Relations 6
   Priority Publics 9
   Channels 9
   The Role of the Writer 11

Conclusions 12
CHAPTER TWO
Ethical and Legal Responsibilities of the PR Writer 15

Core Values and Personal/Professional Behavior 17
  Dynamics 18
  Values 18

Influence of Personal Standards 19
  Educating 19
  Refusing 20
  Requesting Reassignment 20
  Taking the Assignment 21

Influence of Organization and Industry Standards 21
  Perceptions 22
  Organizational Culture and Values 22
  Automatic Responses 22

Influence of Public Relations Standards of Practice 24
  Accuracy 24
  Honesty, Truth and Fairness 25
  False or Misleading Information 25

Influence of Laws and Regulations 26
  Negative Laws 26
  Contracts 27
  Commercial Free Speech 28
  Libel Laws and Privacy Issues 29
  Copyrights and Other Rights 29
  Government Regulators 32

Influence of Primary Publics 33
  Shared Values 33
  Adversarial Groups 33

Conclusions 34

CHAPTER THREE
Persuasion 38

Opinion Formation and Change 40
  Opinion, Attitude and Belief 40
  Models of Attitude Formation and Message Recipients 41
CHAPTER FOUR
Research for the Public Relations Writer 61

Research in Public Relations 62
Categories of Research for the PR Writer 63
Research for Storage and Retrieval 68

Sources for PR Writers and Researchers 69
Secondary Sources for Research 69
Primary Sources for Research 71
Verifying 75
Communication Audits 76

Skepticism—A Requisite for All Research 77
Questions to Ask 77
Answers Prompt Questions 77

Fact Sheets—Basic PR Tools 77

Conclusions 78
PART 2
Writing Principles

CHAPTER FIVE
Writing to Clarify and Simplify the Complex: Style and Content 82

Message, Public, Medium 83
Message 83
Public 83
Medium 83

Style 84
Readability/Listenability 84
Naturalness 87
Variety 88
Euphony 89
Human Interest 89
Trite Expressions 89
Eliminating Bias 89

Content: Simplifying the Complex 90
Know Your Subject 92
Use Plain English 94
Take One Step at a Time 100
Make the Central Points Clear 101
Explain the Unfamiliar with the Familiar 104
Make the Message Accessible 105

Conclusions 106

CHAPTER SIX
Grammar, Spelling and Punctuation 110

Ambiguity and Grammar 112
That Versus Which 112
Subject-Verb Agreement 112

Myths of Grammar 113
Split Infinitives 114
Sentence-Ending Prepositions 114
PART 3

Writing for Select Publics

CHAPTER SEVEN

Email, Memos, Letters, Reports and Proposals

Email 133
  Formats and Content 134
  Style 135
Memos 136
  Memo Formats 136
  Classifications of Memos 140
  Factors Affecting the Use of Memos 141
Letters 142
  Business Letter Format 143
  Types of Letters 144
Reports and Proposals 146
  Organization of Reports and Proposals 146
  Readability and Applicability 149
Conclusions 156
CHAPTER EIGHT

Backgrounders and Position Papers 153

Backgrounders 154
Research 155
Writing 155
Documentation 158

Position Papers 158
Stating the Issue 159
Background 159
Position 159
Recommendations 162

Format 163
Special Uses 163
Conclusions 164

PART 4
Writing for Mass Media Publics 167

CHAPTER NINE

News Releases for Print Media 168

Who Gets News Releases and How? 168
What Is News? 169
Finding News 170
Getting News to the Mass Media 171

Writing News Releases 172
Approach 172
Form and Style 177
Electronic Transmission of Releases 178
Types of Releases 179

Dealing with News Media 185
Government Regulations 186
Conclusions 187
CHAPTER TEN
News for Broadcasting 190

Facts, Sights and Sounds 191
  Announcements and Special Events 191
  News Conferences 193
  Crises 195

Talk Shows 195

News on Call 196

News Releases 197

VNRs 198

Broadcast Writing Style 199
  Physical Preparation 201
  Structural Considerations 203
  Supplying Tape (Audio and Video) 204
  Digital Delivery and Use 206

Conclusions 207

CHAPTER ELEVEN
Features for Print and Broadcasting 210

Generating and Selling Ideas 211
  Discovering Feature Material 211
  Finding a Market for the Features 211
  Writing the Query Letter and Following Up 212
  Working with the Medium 213

Evaluating Topics 214
  Reader Interest 214
  Reader: Consequence 214
  Angle 214

Research 215
  Background Research 215
  Interviewing 216

Writing 217
  The Lead 217
  Development 218
Verification and Illustration 218
Anecdotes 220
Quotations 220
Humanization 220
Dramatization 220
Description 221

Writing Features for Ezines 221
Broadcast Features as a Series 221
Documentaries and Broadcast Features 223
Conclusions 226

CHAPTER TWELVE
Message Design Concepts 228

The Creative Process 228
Symbols 230
Type 231
Logos 233
Color 234
Photographs and Art 236
Infographics 236

Sound and Motion 237
Radio and Other Audio 237
Television, Video, Film and the Internet 238

Qualities of Good Message Design 239
Clear Creative Concept 239
Getting and Holding Attention 240
Understanding Publics 240
Good Organization 240

Visual Principles 241
Balance 241
Visual Weight 242
Horizontal and Vertical Lines 242
Contrast 242
Movement 243

CH A P T E R  T H I R T E E N
Writing Advertising Copy 247

Advertising as a Persuasive Force 253
Appeal 253
Positioning 253
Behavior 256

Basic Guidelines for Writing Advertising Copy 256
Purpose 256
Objective Facts 256
The Publics 257
Media 257
The Creative Approach 257
Visualization 258
Language 258
Repetition 260

Copywriting for Broadcast and Film Media 260
Public Service Announcements 261
Copywriting for Television and Film 262
Copywriting for Radio 265
Broadcast Production Relationships 266

Copywriting for Print Media 268
Attention 269
Interest 269
Desire 270
Credibility 270
Action 270
Copywriting for Newspapers 270
Copywriting for Magazines 271
Copywriting for Web Pages 272
Chapter Fourteen

Writing for Web Sites 277

Nature of the Internet 278
- Accessing the Internet 278
- Cross-Platform 278
- Importance of URLs 279
- Two Types of Web Pages 279

Organizing the Site 279

Web Site Writing 282
- Visitor Reading Behavior 283
- Writing Basics 283
- Writing Style 284
- Emphasis 285

Design Issues 285
- Getting Started 285
- Basic Guidelines 286
- Links 287
- Graphics 287

Making a Web Site More Useful 291
- Branding 291
- Site Search Software 291
- Visitor Response 291
- Refreshing Your Site 292
- Tracking Usage 292

A Dozen Tips to Remember 292

Conclusions 293
PART 5
Writing for a Media Mix

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
Media Kits and Media Pitches 298

Media Kits 298
Media Kit Use 300
Media Kits for Special Events 300
Materials for Media Rooms—Crisis and Special Events 311

Media Pitches 312
Be Prepared and Be Persistent 313

Conclusions 314

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
Speeches and Other Presentations 319

Speeches 320
Types of Speeches 321
Planning 322
Paring and Timing 322
Persuading 323
The Mechanics of Organization 323
Style 324
Setting the Stage and Writing the Finale 325

Presentation Scripts 326
Differences and Similarities 326
Types of Presentations 326
Planning 327
Development 327
Matching Words and Sights 328
Computer Advantages/Disadvantages 328
Other Types of Presentation Aids 329

Other Speech/Presentation Occasions 331
Television Interviews 331
News Conferences 331
CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Newsletters 336

Criteria for Successful Newsletters 338
Filling Unmet Needs 338
Uniqueness 338
Distribution 339
Knowledge and Skills 339
Frequency 339
Format 340

Types and Functions of Newsletters 340
Employee and Member Newsletters 340
Special-Interest Subscriber Newsletters 343
Technical and Content Considerations 343

Reporting and Writing for Newsletters 345
Reporting 345
Writing Tips for Newsletters 346
Fitting Newsletter Copy and Design 346

Writing and Designing Newsletters on Desktop Systems 347
Expediting Editorial Matter 348
Designing 349

Conclusions 351

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Brochures 353

Purpose 354
Persuade 355
Inform and Educate 355

Concept 355
Purpose and Object 355
Giving Shape to Information  358
  Rules  359
  Accuracy  359
  Active Voice  359
  Style  359
  Tone  360
  Visuals  360

Designing Brochures  361
  Format  361
  Type  362
  Paper  364
  White Space  365
  Color  366

Reproduction  367
  Letterpress  367
  Offset  367
  Gravure  367

Distribution  368

Conclusions  368

CHAPTER NINETEEN
Magazines and Annual Reports  371

Magazines  371
  Topics  372
    Employee Publications  374
    Association Publications  375
    Trade and Industry Publications  378
    Corporate Publications for the Public  378

Annual Reports  378
  Clarity Versus Accuracy  382
  Planning the Report  384
  Writing the Report  385

Conclusions  390
CHAPTER TWENTY

Crisis Communication and the Planning Process 394

Planning for Crisis Situations 395
  Corporate Information 396
  Handling the Crisis 399

The Planning Process 400
  1. Review, Revise and Affirm the Mission Statement 402
  2. Examine the Present Situation 402
  3. Analyze the Data 404
  4. Prepare Forecasts 404
  5. Write Statements of Objectives 405
  6. Prepare Statements of Goals 405
  7. Develop Strategies 406
  8. Define, Prioritize and Analyze Publics 406
  10. Develop Media Strategy and Mix 409
  11. Develop Schedule, Assign Responsibilities and Establish Budget 412
  12. Devise Monitoring and Measurement Systems and Procedures 412

Conclusions 416

APPENDIX A

Readability Formulas 421

Flesch's Reading Ease and Human Interest Formulas 421
Gunning's Fog Index 422
Dale-Chall Formula 422
ELF Formula 423
Other Readability Tests 423
  Software Programs 425